A new year and a new look for the LRAPA website

LRAPA is kicking off the New Year by debuting a fresh, updated website! The combination of the latest web design technology and high-quality graphics gives the website a new look and a new feel. Users will find the site easier to navigate, with important air quality information and advisories displayed on the home page. Press releases, announcements, and public notices are also prominently featured on the home page. Many features of the new design were incorporated based on comments from the public and the new website will work better to suit the needs of the community. If you have questions about the website, please contact Sally Markos, Public Affairs Manager, at 736-1056 ext. 217.
