FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Backyard Burning Season Opens Wednesday, November 1

After a delay due to dry weather, the backyard burning season opens Wednesday, November 1, for most residents in Lane County. However, residents are reminded that burning is prohibited year-round within the city limits of Eugene, and is greatly restricted for residents of Springfield.

“Generally, most residents who live outside the Urban Growth Boundary of Eugene and Springfield are allowed to burn under LRAPA rules,” said Sally Markos, of LRAPA. “However, some areas, such as Oakridge, have enacted ordinances that further restrict burning.”

For this reason, LRAPA recommends residents call their local fire departments for information regarding restrictions on burning in their areas before they burn. Burning may also be prohibited on days when air quality is poor. Willamette Valley residents should always call LRAPA’s open burning line, 726-3976, before burning to verify that burning is allowed on any given day. Coastal Lane County residents can call 997-1757 for daily outdoor burning advisories. Detailed information about open burning can be found at www.lrapa.org.

Residents who are allowed to burn are reminded that burning only woody yard debris generated on their own residential property is allowed, and that all fires must be out by sunset. Burning garbage, construction debris, treated wood, and other substances is illegal. A first offense violation of LRAPA’s open burning rules may result in a $500 fine.

“LRAPA wants to remind residents that although burning might be allowed in their area, smoke from open burning exposes individuals to harmful pollutants, including particulates and air toxics that contribute to birth defects, cancer and lung disease. The agency asks residents to dispose of debris by composting, chipping, or recycling whenever possible to avoid exposing others to harmful emissions,” Markos said.

Residents can dispose of yard debris for a minimal charge at several collection depots, including Lane County transfer sites at Glenwood, Cottage Grove and Florence, Lane Forest Products (345-9085), Rexius Forest By-Products (342-1835), and Greenco (341-1619).

Things residents can do to reduce impacts from open burning:

- * Keep piles covered and dry until ready to burn
- * Burn only wood debris
- * Use a chipper whenever possible, and burn only what is necessary
- * Burn well within the property line away from other homes
